PG&J SOLUTIONS

Capability Statement · Fairfield, California

Company overview

PG&J Solutions is a Fairfield, California company launching in January 2027. We will plan the work, manage it from start to finish, and inspect the job ourselves. You deal with one company for janitorial and related services at public buildings and commercial properties. Our approach is one point of accountability: facility managers deal with one company instead of many.

How we work

We take responsibility for the full scope, with our own management and on-site quality control. Scope. We review the statement of work, walk the site where possible, and confirm tasks, frequencies, hours, and access rules in writing. Coordinate. We assign the crew to do the work, then set the schedule, supplies, and site contacts. Quality control. We inspect the work against the written scope, track issues until they are closed, and report back, so you have one contact for every question.

Why PG&J

- Single point of contact for scheduling, issues, and reporting.
- Written scope and quality inspections so work is checked against what was agreed.
- Local to Travis AFB and Solano County.

Service area

Solano County, Northern California, and nearby regions.

Leadership

Simeon Meehan, Founder. Simeon Meehan started PG&J Solutions because too many jobs get passed between vendors who don't coordinate with each other. The company is set up so a facility manager has one person to call, who follows through and takes responsibility for the outcome.
